PRODUCT INFORMATION

Brightdoor works to transform existing exterior doors with our high quality glass inserts!

We offer a wide variety of designs as well as multiple size options to choose from. Our inserts are created by the leading manufacturers in the decorative glass industry. In addition to safety tempered glass, most of the designs that we offer are also available in impact glass.

Tempered safety glass is a heat-treated glass and is about four times stronger than regular annealed glass. This greatly reduces the chance of breaking on impact. You will often find tempered glass in car windows, shower doors, and sliding glass doors. Tempered safety glass is the most commonly used and economical choice for glass doors, however, we always suggest that those living in a wind borne debris region to use some sort of state approved protection to cover their glass door in the case of severe weather to comply with state building code.

Impact glass is tempered glass that has a laminated layer sandwiched between two panes adding strength and durability. It can still break, but will absorb an impact much like a car windshield.
